A Program on “Awareness on Campus Placement Training

Resource person: Mr. Kalyan Kumar Smart Training Resources India Private Limited

Awareness of campus placements is crucial for students as it provides them with an opportunity to secure job offers from companies before they graduate. Here are some key points regarding awareness on campus placements:

- 1. Information Dissemination: Universities and colleges should actively disseminate information about upcoming campus placements through various channels such as notice boards, emails, newsletters, and social media platforms.
- 2. Orientation Sessions: Conducting orientation sessions for students to familiarize them with the campus placement process, including the types of companies participating, eligibility criteria, resume building, interview preparation, etc., can greatly enhance awareness.
- 3. Career Counseling: Providing career counseling services to help students understand their strengths, interests, and career goals, and aligning them with suitable job opportunities can increase their awareness and readiness for campus placements.

A Program on “Effective Negotiation Skills”

Resource person: Mrs.Lakshmi Kumari, Synxa IT Private Limited

If you want to strike effective deals and improve the outcomes of future negotiations, you need an arsenal of skills. Investing time and energy into developing them and learning the can prepare you to maximize value at the bargaining table.

DAY-1(14-12-2020)

1. Communication

To achieve your ideal outcome at the bargaining table, it's essential to clearly communicate what you're hoping to walk away with and where your boundaries lie.

Effective negotiators develop communication skills that allow them to engage in civil discussion and work toward an agreeable solution.

Deal-making requires give and take; it's critical to articulate your thoughts and actively listen to others' ideas and needs. Not doing so can cause you to overlook key components of negotiations and leave them dissatisfied.

2. Active listening

For better or worse, emotions play a role in negotiation, and you can use them to your advantage.

For example, positive emotions can increase feelings of trust at the bargaining table. Similarly, you can channel anxiety or nervousness into excitement.

You need a high degree of emotional intelligence to read other parties' emotions. This can enable you to pick up on what they're implying rather than explicitly stating and advantageously manage and use your emotions.

3. preparation

preparation ahead with a clear idea of what you hope to achieve and where your boundaries lie is essential to any negotiation. Without adequate preparation, you can overlook important terms of your deal or alternative solutions.

First, consider. Sometimes called the bargaining zone, ZOPA is the range in which you and other parties can find common ground. A positive bargaining zone exists when the terms you're willing to agree to overlap. A negative one exists when they don't.

Next, it's beneficial to understand your best alternative to a negotiated agreement (BATNA). If your discussion lands in a negative bargaining zone, your BATNA is the course of action you'll take if the negotiation is unsuccessful. Knowing your BATNA can ensure you have a backup plan if you can't reach an agreement. It can also help you avoid leaving the table empty-handed.

A Program on Poster Making

Resource person: Mr. Bhrama Kumar, Smart Training Resources India
Private Limited

Objective: The objective of the poster-making event was to provide a platform for participants to visually communicate important messages related to various social, environmental, and health-related issues. Through their artwork, participants aimed to educate and inspire action among their peers and the community.

Conclusion: The poster-making event served as a creative platform for participants to express their ideas, concerns, and aspirations for a better world. By harnessing the power of visual communication, the event fostered awareness, dialogue, and action on important social issues.

As we reflect on the success of the event, we are reminded of the transformative potential of art in inspiring positive change and building a more inclusive and compassionate society.

A Program on "Time Management"

Resource person: Mr. Krishna Murthy, Vikhashitha Foundation

Time management is a crucial soft skill that involves planning, organizing, and effectively utilizing time to accomplish tasks and goals. Here are some key aspects of time management in soft skills:

- 1. Prioritization: Effective time management begins with identifying and prioritizing tasks based on their importance and urgency. This involves distinguishing between what is essential and what can wait.
- 2. Setting goals: Establishing clear, achievable goals helps in focusing efforts and allocating time appropriately. Break down larger objectives into smaller, manageable tasks with specific deadlines.
- 3. Planning and scheduling: Develop a systematic approach to managing time by creating daily, weekly, and long-term schedules. Use tools like planners, calendars, or digital apps to organize tasks and allocate time blocks for different activities.
- 4. Time estimation: Improve accuracy in estimating the time required to complete tasks. This helps in allocating appropriate time slots and avoiding over commitment.
- 5. Eliminating distractions: Minimize interruptions and distractions that can derail productivity. Create a conducive work environment, set boundaries, and utilize techniques like time blocking to maintain focus.
- 6. Effective communication: Communicate expectations regarding deadlines, priorities, and timelines clearly with colleagues, supervisors, or team members. This ensures alignment and facilitates collaboration.

7. Flexibility and adaptability: Remain flexible and adaptable to changes in priorities or unexpected events. Learn to adjust schedules and reallocate time as needed while staying focused on key objectives.

8. Avoiding procrastination: Procrastination can hinder productivity and lead to time wastage. Develop strategies such as breaking tasks into smaller steps, setting deadlines, or using time management techniques like the Pomodoro Technique to overcome procrastination.

9. Time tracking and evaluation: Regularly monitor and assess how time is being utilized. Identify inefficiencies or areas for improvement and adjust strategies accordingly.

10. Self-care and balance: Remember to allocate time for self-care activities, relaxation, and maintaining a healthy work-life balance. Overworking can lead to burnout and decreased productivity in the long run.

Improving time management skills requires practice, self-discipline, and a willingness to continually refine strategies based on individual needs and circumstances. By mastering these soft skills, individuals can enhance productivity, reduce stress, and achieve greater success in both personal and professional endeavors.
